

TeachingBooks.net: Children's Book Writers, Illustrators and Curricular Resources Cyberspaced to You!

Presented at WLA, November 1, 2002

Wouldn't it be wonderful if everyone could experience the joy of seeing an author without having to make the time and effort to be there? Author events reveal a special spirit and personalize the connection people can make with their favorite books. www.TeachingBooks.net introduces everyone to children's book writers and illustrators via virtual author programs, anytime, anywhere. With the click of a mouse, subscribers can see — among many multimedia programs — world-renowned illustrator David Macaulay sketch an example from his bestseller The Way Things Work; hear Newbery and National Book Award recipient Jack Gantos read from Joey Pigza Swallowed The Key; and watch reigning Caldecott Medalist David Wiesner share the genesis and original artwork for The Three Pigs.

TeachingBooks.net is a dynamic hub of authoritative children's literature resources that utilizes multimedia technologies to give everyone, at their own convenience, this opportunity for personalized connection with the best authors, illustrators and insightful teaching materials. Maximizing the Internet's amazing abilities, TeachingBooks enables everyone to instantly:

- Watch original, five-minute movies of authors and illustrators in their studios,
- Access discussion guides to thousands of quality children's books,
- Listen to audio interviews with hundreds of the most-read authors and illustrators,
- Read dozens of informative interviews with front-list authors and illustrators,
- Ask questions of renowned book creators,
- Browse sortable lists to identify insightful and useful children's literature resources,
- Link to thousands of reliable children's literature websites,
- Receive customized emails that instantly inform and connect subscribers to curricular resources relevant to their needs.

TeachingBooks.net begins its second year of operation better than ever. After a very successful inaugural year, our September, 2002 re-launch makes finding authoritative children's literature resources easier than ever before.

Experience this dynamic, free on-line tool. Go to <http://www.teachingbooks.net> and click "Sign In." Follow the links to register for a free subscription.

Nick Glass & Virginia Harrison
TeachingBooks.net
313 West Beltline Hwy, Suite 150
Madison, WI 53713

(608) 257-2919
info@TeachingBooks.net

©2002 TeachingBooks.net LLC. All rights reserved.