

Beyond Google: A few other search tools to try

A9

<http://a9.com>

- Searches Amazon, Google, Internet Movie Database, and other resources.
- Unique return display
- Stores search history.

alltheweb

<http://www.alltheweb.com>

- Includes results for news, pictures, audio, and video, along with web results.

Answers.com

<http://www.answers.com>

- Searches "over 100 authoritative encyclopedias, dictionaries, glossaries, and atlases."

Clusty

<http://clusty.com>

- Metasearch with results broken into clusters, or categories.
- Based on Vivismo.

Dogpile

<http://www.dogpile.com>

- Metasearch engine.
- Can display results from all mixed together or individual results

Grokker (beta)

<http://www.grokker.com>

- Visual display
- Based on Yahoo

Podscope

<http://www.podscope.com>

- Searches podcasts
- Displays clips of text

For Kids

Ask Jeeves Kids

<http://www.ajkids.com>

- Uses natural language question asking.
- Limits results to selected resources.

Kidsclick

<http://www.kidsclick.org>

- Contains librarian-selected resources for kids.

To keep up with search developments

ResourceShelf

<http://www.resourceshelf.com>

SearchEngineWatch

<http://searchenginewatch.com/>